Nominating Committee: One to be elected – Three-year term

NAME: Borko Rodic	CANDIDATE STATEMENT
Borko Rodic, DScPT, DPT, OCS, CMPT, COMT is a full-time clinical assistant professor at Messiah University’s DPT program. He earned his DScPT from Andrews University in 2020 and DPT from Lebanon Valley College in 2008. Dr. Rodic is a board certified orthopedic clinical specialist (OCS) and he completed orthopedic fellowship program at North American Institute of Orthopedic Manual Therapy (NAIOMT). He is a certified manual physical therapist (CMPT) and a certified manipulative orthopedic therapist (COMT) with pending designation of Fellow of the American Academy of Orthopedic Manual Physical Therapists (FAAOMPT). His research agenda is on topics of clinical reasoning and orthopedic manual therapy and his research was presented at national conferences.	I’m honored for your consideration on my candidacy to serve as a nominating committee member at ACAPT/EAC. My qualifications are related to my educational background that include a DSc degree and manual fellowship completion as well as my role as assistant clinical professor at Messiah University DPT program. Messiah University endorses Early Assurance Program and allows up to 10 high school seniors and 10 Messiah University juniors to obtain a guaranteed acceptance into Messiah University’s Doctor of Physical Therapy Program. My focus on excellence in teaching in PT as well current position that deals with admissions, student outcomes and faculty workload (that must also allow for excellence in scholarship agenda) uniquely lines up with EAC objectives. I’m confident that my skill set can positively impact my potential role as a nominating committee member.
