Dear Colleagues:

Welcome to the Educational Leadership Conference (ELC) 2018! This year's theme titled "Our Leadership Landscape: Perspectives from the Ground Level to 30,000 Feet" encourages us to reflect on the roads traveled to reach our current state and gives us an opportunity to look forward to the great heights the profession can achieve. The ELC is a collaborative effort of the Academy of Physical Therapy Education (Academy) and the American Council of Academic Physical Therapy (ACAPT) designed to excite, educate, invigorate, and facilitate discussion among all stakeholders in physical therapy education. The success of this conference lies with our shared passion for excellence in physical therapy education as well as the active participation of all of you - PT and PTA program directors and chairs, PT and PTA educators, directors of clinical education, clinical instructors and site coordinators of clinical education, faculty, and residency/fellowship educators.

ELC 2018 features several very special celebrations and events. On Saturday afternoon, don't miss the rowdy Oxford Debate arguing the merits of simulation in "Following the Nursing Lead: Can Simulation Replace Clinical Education Time?" Saturday evening is the 26th Celebration of Diversity dinner at the US Assure Club at TIAA Bank Field, home of the Jacksonville Jaguars. Proceeds from the dinner go to the Minority Scholarship Fund which has awarded more than $400,000 for physical therapist and physical therapist assistant students and faculty members pursuing an advanced doctoral degree since the fund was established in 1987.

ELC 2018 includes a variety of meetings, including the ACAPT open forum, ACAPT business and consortia meetings, and Academy Special Interest Groups (SIGs) meetings. Brief descriptions of the SIGs and consortia are in the First Timers Guide to ELC on page 36 of this program. Both the Academy and ACAPT are proud members of the Education Leadership Partnership (ELP), which is a collaboration of members from the American Physical Therapy Association (APTA), the American Council of Academic Physical Therapy, and the Academy of Physical Therapy Education, committed to the common objective of reducing unwarranted variation in physical therapist practice through use of best practices in education.

Our programming includes platform presentations, 90-minute educational sessions, and 3 poster sessions held during each exhibitor break on Friday and Saturday. This year, our educational programming features a variety of topics related to 5 exciting themes:

- Taking flight and advancing PT education to promote access and equity
- Leading through innovation and simulation
- Embedding leadership skills across didactic and clinical education
- Developing strategies to build resilience in academic and clinical environments
- Blending leadership in interprofessional education

Formal programming opens Friday morning with the 5th annual Dr. Geneva R. Johnson Forum on Innovation in Physical Therapy Education entitled "Leadership in a Rapidly Changing World." It begins with a provocative keynote address by Lieutenant General Michael K. Nagata, Director, Directorate of Strategic Operational Planning at the National Counterterrorism Center. He is a 1979 graduate of the physical therapy program at Georgia State University. Immediately following the address, individuals representing two unique educational perspectives (that of faculty and clinical education) briefly respond to Lieutenant General Nagata's session to IGNITE further discussion. A tribute to the legacy of Dr. Lynda Woodruff will follow. After a 30-minute exhibitor break with poster presentations, participants can continue the conversation during the café style discussions based on the topics brought forth in the keynote and IGNITE sessions or attend a variety of concurrent educational programming.

The ELC is an intimate conference designed with many opportunities to relax and engage in collegial discussions, meet physical therapy educators from across the country, and spend time meeting our exhibitors and sponsors. On Friday and Saturday morning, join us for breakfast with exhibitors and take the opportunity to grab some refreshments and meet with exhibitors and colleagues.

As program co-chairs, we thank you for the privilege of serving in this capacity. We greatly appreciate the support of Pam Levangie, President of the Academy of Physical Therapy Education, and Barb Sanders, President of the American Council of Academic Physical Therapy. We are thankful for the many volunteers who served as peer reviewers for the educational programming abstracts and to those who are volunteering during the onsite program as moderators. Last, but certainly not least, we recognize and applaud the collective efforts of an amazing team of individuals who attend to every detail of this conference. These outstanding individuals include: Sandy Brooks, Executive Director for ACAPT; Julia Rice, Executive Director for the Academy; Christina Fontana, APTA Meeting Planner; Academy Programming Representative: Scott Euype and ACAPT Programming Committee Members: Katherine Beissner, Caroline Goulet, Merrill Landers, Christine McCallum, and Mary Blackinton, Director at Large.

Don't hesitate to ask questions at the registration desk, to event volunteers, or to hotel/conference staff. We look forward to your active participation during the conference and appreciate your feedback!

Have a wonderful conference!

Sincerely,

Debbie Ingram, PT, EdD, FAPTA

Continuing Education Units & Verification of Attendance

ELC 2018 attendance is equivalent to 1.4 Continuing Education Units (CEUs) (14 contact hours); this amount will be reflected on your certificate of participation. We have applied for approval in all states but California. The cost to apply for approval in CA was in the thousands and beyond the scope of our budget. For those needing approval from CA, contact apte@apta.org and we will provide all of the information you will need to apply on your own, at your expense. We encourage anyone inconvenienced by this to contact the CA state chapter. If you need verification for your state, please contact apte@apta.org.

If your state requires additional verification of attendance at each session, please have your conference onsite program signed under each session you attend. A designated representative will be available at the end of each session. Please save your onsite program as proof of attendance. While we are able to confirm your conference registration, we are not able to confirm your attendance at specific sessions. For information on continuing education requirements and procedures in your state, visit APTA's webpage for state practice acts (www.apta.org/Licensure/StatePracticeActs/).

Course content is not intended for use outside the scope of the learner's license or regulation. Clinical CEUs should not be taken by individuals who are not licensed or otherwise regulated, except if they are involved in a specific plan of care.

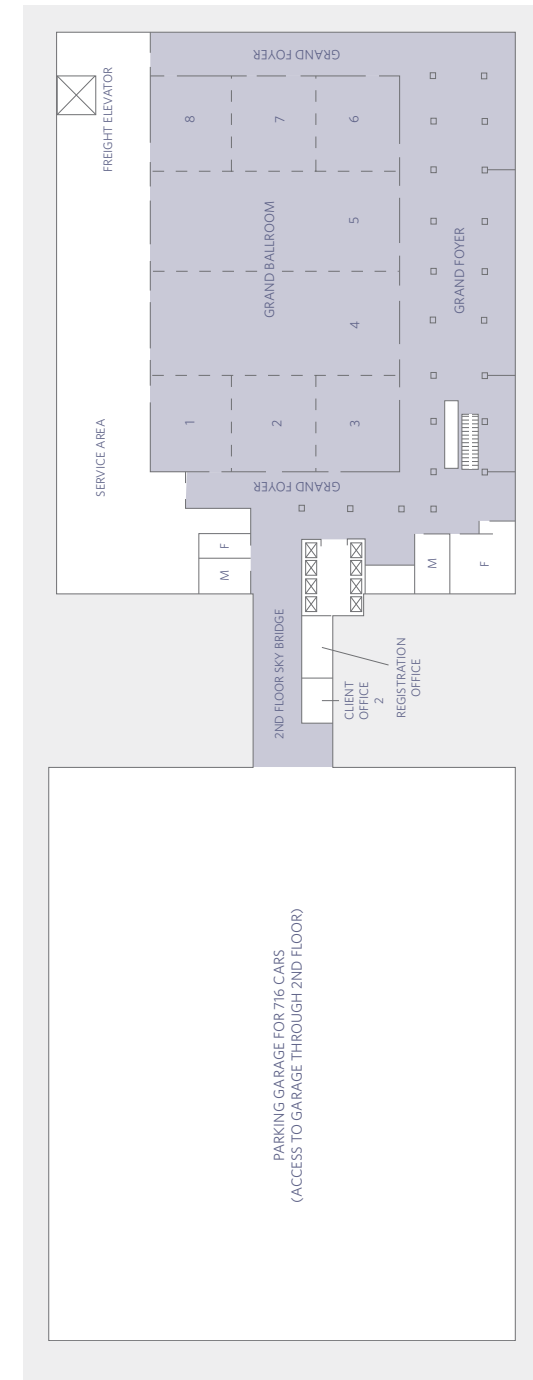

Accessing Your Continuing Education Certificate

Continuing Education Certificates for ELC 2018 will be distributed through APTA's Learning Center after November 1, 2018. Additional CEU approval information is listed above. To access your certificate, please follow the instructions below:

- New, 22nd edition of TherapyEd's NPTE Review & Study Guide by O'Sullivan & Siegelman, Shaffer & Suttive. Revised and updated with 3 Online Practice Exams.

This course was extremely beneficial for my exam preparation and understanding of the exam structure and content. I feel so much better after taking this course — it has empowered me to prepare for the most important exam of my life!

- Taylor S., Trine University

The instructor had fantastic energy, focus, and determination to provide us with the best experience possible. I felt like I learned more in these two days than I did in some classes over an entire semester. I like having a concrete study plan in place.

Integrated Modular Data Management Software

since 2010

For newcomers, this abbreviated history in addition to our Welcome Letter may help you to understand the roots of the Educational Leadership Conference and how the ELC is organized. Prior to the ELC, there were two separate conferences relevant to PT educators: 1) the National Clinical Educators Conference, convened biennially for clinical educators, and 2) the Academic Administrator's Special Interest Group (AASIG) of the APTA Education Section, held annually for physical therapy program administrators. From 2004-2005, a joint meeting was created called the APTA Education Section Academic and Clinical Education Conference to bring all stakeholders interested in PT education together at a single conference. In 2006, the name of the conference was changed to the Educational Leadership Conference.

During CSM 2011, a motion was brought to the Education Section Business Meeting to dissolve the AASIG from the Education Section; and in 2013, the APTA House of Delegates bylaws granted component status to the American Council of Academic Physical Therapy (ACAPT). ACAPT's membership now consists of member institutions representing CAPTE-accredited physical therapist programs. To learn more about the ACAPT mission, structure, function, activities, consortia, and leadership, go to <http://www.acapt.org>. Consortia descriptions are detailed in subsequent paragraphs. In 2018, the Education Section membership voted to change the name of the organization to the Academy of Physical Therapy Education (APTE). The Academy is a membership organization for individual members and continues with six Special Interest Groups (SIGs): Academic Faculty (AFSIG), Clinical Education (CESIG), Physical Therapist Assistant Educators (PTASIG), and Residency/Fellowship Education (RFESIG) with the newest SIGs being the Scholarship of Education (SOESIG) and Anatomy Educators (AESIG). Individual membership fees apply; however, there is no cost incurred for SIG memberships. Descriptions of each SIG are in subsequent paragraphs. To learn more about the Academy mission, structure, function, activities and leadership go to <http://aptaeducation.org/home-page.cfm>.

Thus, the intent of the ELC is to provide programming and activities that serve all leaders, clinicians, and educators interested in the pursuit of excellence in physical therapy education. The program includes scholarly, peer-reviewed posters and presentations pertinent to physical therapy educational administrators, faculty, directors of clinical education, site coordinators of clinical education, residency program coordinators, and clinical instructors. Ample time is also provided for networking with exhibitors and colleagues during the breakfasts, exhibitor breaks, lunches, and the Friday evening exhibitor reception.

The Clinical Reasoning Curricula & Assessment Consortium (CRCA) will serve as a resource and forum for educators, both clinical and academic, interested in best practice for teaching and assessing clinical reasoning skills. Additionally, the group will work to develop a research plan relative to clinical reasoning and will conduct multi-institutional research projects to increase our understanding of the teaching and learning of clinical reasoning.

The Consortium for the Humanities, Ethics and Professionalism (CHEP) provides a forum for faculty with an interest and commitment to the critical role of the humanities in health professions education and the development of physical therapists who fully embrace a professional identity grounded in the profession's public serving purpose.

The DPT Terminal Internship Consortium (DPT) provides a mechanism and venue for ongoing discussions related to standardizing and enhancing the terminal clinical education experience. As well, consortium members may serve as a resource for discussions related to implementation of extensive terminal clinical education experiences, which may include the yearlong internship model. The consortium also provides resources for those interested in pursuing establishment of an academic-clinical partnership.

The Early Assurance BS/DPT Program Consortium (EABSDPT) represents the faculty and admissions coordinators from Doctor of Physical Therapy (DPT) programs that incorporate an undergraduate course of study leading directly into the DPT degree. The purpose of this consortium is to share and collaborate on issues unique to Early Assurance programs in the areas of admissions, student outcomes, curricular design and development, faculty load and data collection to further both institutionally driven and academic council goals of academic excellence within physical therapy education.

The Education and Pedagogy Consortium (EPiC) focuses on exploring and promoting best practices of pedagogy and education delivery of physical therapy education.

The National Consortium of Clinical Educators (NCCE) serves as a resource and forum for individuals who have professional interest and responsibilities for the implementation and evaluation of clinical education for physical therapists, and advises ACAPT on matters of clinical education curriculum and policy. Membership is comprised of an academic and clinical educator pair for each ACAPT institution. ELC is the annual business meeting for the NCCE. The goal is for at least one member (ideally, both) of the institutional pair to be present for this meeting, and that 100% of ACAPT institutions will be represented. Others are welcome to attend.

The National Interprofessional Education Consortium (NIPEC) shall advance physical therapy as an integral component of Interprofessional education and practice through collaboration with other organizations nationally and internationally. The consortium shall serve as a resource and forum for faculty at ACAPT member institutions involved in Interprofessional education efforts, and promote Interprofessional education and collaborative practice within the physical therapy community through APTA.

The Research-Intensive Physical Therapy Programs Consortium (RIPPT) exists to promote research to improve healthcare and excellence in PT education, to serve as a forum for research-intensive programs to build and support their research enterprises and collaborations, to serve as a resource for programs that aspire to be research-intensive, and to develop accepted benchmarks of research activity.

Faculty Special Interest Group (AF SIG) serves as a forum for sharing and exchanging information about faculty matters and as an advocacy group for academic faculty in addressing issues of concern in physical therapy education. The AF SIG has generated excitement among academic faculty from different content backgrounds to come together over issues of teaching, scholarship, and service.

The Clinical Education Special Interest Group (CE SIG) provides a vehicle for increasing and improving communication among PT and PTA academic and clinical educators. The CE SIG works to promote cooperative efforts among educational programs and clinical sites in scheduling, evaluation, and continuing education. The CE SIG also serves as a resource body involved in acquiring, cataloguing, and disseminating information related to clinical education in physical therapy.

The Physical Therapist Assistant Educators Special Interest Group (PTAE SIG) serves as the advocate and expert resource for the role of the PTA. Members provide leadership, mentorship and expertise in teaching and learning to support all persons concerned with education that ensures PTAs are prepared for contemporary practice.

The Residency/Fellowship Education Special Interest Group (RFE SIG) provides a forum where residency/fellowship faculty including program directors, coordinators, and mentors will promote excellence in residency education by providing collaborative opportunities for educational research, exploring opportunities for curricular development, enhancing resident clinical reasoning skills, and discussing resources available for assessment in residency education. The RFE SIG is open to anyone (PT or PTA) who has an interest in residency and/or fellowship education from a clinical or academic standpoint. Members must be members of the Academy of Physical Therapy Education. Meetings will be held twice per year at Combined Sections Meeting and the Educational Leadership Conference.

The Scholarship of Education Special Interest Group (SOE SIG) provides a forum where both academic and clinical educators will promote and enhance the quality of educational scholarship in physical therapy education. The SOE SIG serves both our PT and PTA members. The SOE SIG seeks to foster the development of educational researchers and facilitate collaboration and translation of research to educational practice.

The Anatomy Educators Special Interest Group (AE SIG) provides a network for the exchange of information related to physical therapist anatomy education. The AE SIG objectives include fostering awareness of best-practice and teaching tools available to physical therapist anatomy educators. Efforts of the AE SIG are coordinated with existing anatomy professional organizations to ensure efficient use of available resources and the dissemination of education-related information. The AE SIG will foster mentoring relationships between experienced and novice anatomy faculty, and facilitate collaborative research efforts among physical therapy anatomy educators.
